HEALTHPOINT Licenses SURGICEPT™ Waterless, Brush Free Surgical Hand Scrub Technology from Columbia University

(Fort Worth, TX) --- HEALTHPOINT, Ltd., a DFB Pharmaceuticals company is pleased to announce the completion of a license agreement with Columbia University and the purchase of Mycrocept Corporation's product line, most notably the SURGICEPT brush free waterless surgical hand scrub.

HEALTHPOINT, the company that innovated brush free surgical scrubbing with TRISEPTIN® Water-aided in 1996, is a recognized leader in advanced antimicrobials for skin asepsis.

HEALTHPOINT's license agreement with Columbia University and acquisition of Mycrocept's product line provides HEALTHPOINT Surgical Division not only SURGICEPT, a proven product, but also a unique docket of concepts and ideas that may be utilized to expand HEALTHPOINT's current product portfolio.

"The SURGICEPT formulas offer some unique and vital characteristics in the areas of both efficacy and user preference," said Dr. Lawton Seal, senior program manager for HEALTHPOINT. "The SURGICEPT product goes on quick, dries fast and has exceptional customer feedback and user acceptance."

"Additionally, the relationship with Columbia provides HEALTHPOINT access to some of the industry's leading resources in the areas of skin asepsis," Dr. Seal continued.

"The combination of the well-received formulation of the SURGICEPT waterless, brush-free surgical hand scrub with the direct sales support of HEALTHPOINT's professionally trained sales organization will provide OR personnel an exceptional product with exceptional support," said Steve Owens, Director of Marketing for HEALTHPOINT Surgical.

Effective immediately, HEALTHPOINT will be handling all sales and sales support for SURGICEPT products on a direct basis. Current SURGICEPT customers should contact HEALTHPOINT at 800-441-8227.

Since its inception in 1992, HEALTHPOINT has established a U.S. presence in the research, development, and marketing of branded pharmaceuticals, over the counter drugs, and medical devices for surgical, dermatology, and tissue management indications. An aggressive research and development effort has brought HEALTHPOINT's unique technologies to the market, setting the pace for its highly trained field sales organization of direct sales representatives. HEALTHPOINT, with over 300 employees, is a DFB Pharmaceuticals, Inc. affiliate company. HEALTHPOINT is based in Fort Worth, Texas.
